

George Newman on the Rosenwald School

GN: One of them in Dixon Town meets in what used to be the, a colored school building, which was built with financial help from a gentleman in Chicago, Illinois.

AS: Rosenwald?

GN: Rosenwald Fund, yes. Mr; Rosenwald was the chairman of the board at one time of Sears, Roebuck & Company, and he helped build a lot of schools around the country. And they have remodeled that building, and made it into a church and made a nice looking building out of it. And have started a new cemetery back behind it.
